

MANY TEARS ANIMAL RESCUE

Many Tears Animal Rescue was founded in 2004 by Sylvia & Bill VanAtta. It started on a very small scale but soon grew with the backing of animal lovers who had the same ideals and felt the same longing to help the dogs. Now well known and extremely busy it has never lost that special family feeling and currently homes in excess of 2,500 dogs a year.

Many Tears primarily takes in ex-breeding dogs and those on "death row" at the pound and, whenever they have the space, dogs from Ireland in desperate need of help. They also take in dogs from owners who can no longer keep them and a small number of cats. Before they are homed all animals are wormed, micro chipped inoculated and neutered (unless there is a medical reason for not doing so or they are too young) and then with the help of fosterers across the UK they socialise, train and love them until forever homes are found.

There are no fancy politics at Many Tears, just many hard working dog lovers determined to make a difference to the dogs we rescue. We know we cannot save them all but the ones we can save will have a quality of life that will not be compromised.
